COMMENTS

Introducing "Mrs. Stockton" as she was affectionately referred to by the longtime Cape May family who previously owned her and then by the young couple who updated her with the utmost attention and care. The countless happy memories that fill this quintessential Cape May cottage are yours to make this summer when you too fall in love with "Mrs. Stockton." This charming five-bedroom cottage, located in the historic district of one of the prettiest towns in the nation, is one block from one of the most desirable beaches in Cape May and just a short walk to everyone's favorite shops and restaurants. In addition to its classic front porch and the beauty of the restored original wood floors, staircase, moldings and windows, this home has a sweet appeal that is sure to make you want to move right in. The designer touches of Serena and Lily wallpaper and furnishings, completely renovated bathrooms and the updated kitchen with new appliances and countertops, adds just the right blend of modern designer taste to the traditional charm that defines Cape May style. City of Cape May is the nation's oldest resort and is designated the Cape May Historic District, a national historic landmark due to the concentration of Victorian buildings. This home is definitely a little piece of heaven. Total doll house impeccably decorated with attention to detail and design.
